Innovative Announces the Launch of nSourceRPO

In a move to further strengthen its identity in the Recruitment Process Outsourcing (RPO) market, Innovative Staffing, Inc. has announced the change of its Talent Pool service offering to nSourceRPO, effective November 1, 2004.

nSourceRPO will still offer the existing service suite to its Talent Pool customers, but has added new enhancements to its online service utility, as well as strength in personnel and capital resources. The objective of nSourceRPO is to offer organizations a unique method in which to outsource critical, yet time-intensive candidate recruiting processes. These processes, such as front-end sourcing, job requisition management, and pre-qualification, often drain corporate resources and time set aside for other more strategic internal projects.

“This change will allow our organization to be even more competitive in this emerging RPO space,” said Andrew Jackson, Senior Vice President of Innovative. “By investing more capital in such areas as account services, training, and technology, we will be able to service not only a wider base of companies but also a more diverse set of job requirements.”
